OUR BEER STYLES

FARMHOUSE

Our farmhouse beers are inspired by the rustic Belgian styles that date as far back as the Middle Ages. Spicy, fruity and dry, these beers often display earthy 'funk' character and may feature wild yeasts like brettanomyces. Many farmhouse ales can be cellared and will develop more complex flavours and aromas over time, just like a fine wine.

HOP FORWARD

Our hop forward beers are characteristically bright and aromatic. Dominant flavours can range from earthy pine, to tropical fruits to citrus depending on the hops used. Check the IBUs, which stand for International Bittering Units - the higher the IBU number, the more bitter. Fresh is best for hop forward beers.

GOLDEN SOUR

Bright and tart, our golden sours are mixed-fermentation ales brewed with our house culture of lactobacillus and brettanomyces. These beers display aromas of fresh tropical fruit and citrus, and have a crisp, dry finish.

DARK SOUR

Our dark sours are mixed-fermentation ales brewed with our house culture of lactobacillus and brettanomyces. These complex beers balance a tangy acidity with a rich, malty depth. Dark in colour, these beers display notes of chocolate, coffee, or roasted nuts.

WOOD CELLAR

Beers from our wood cellar have spent time in our oak barrels and Foeders sourced exclusively from wineries in the Twenty Valley region of Niagara. These beers are barrel fermented, barrel aged or blended with other beers from our cellar, taking on characteristics from the oak and even the wine that they used to hold.
